

FoodSaver Vacuum Sealer Rolls & Bags Variety Pack

Quick-Use Guide • Heat-seal rolls and pre-cut quart bags

| PACKAGE CONTENTS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | USE WITH                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 5 vacuum-seal rolls in 8-inch and 11-inch widths, plus 36 quart-size pre-cut bags.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | FoodSaver vacuum sealing systems that use heat-seal bags and rolls.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Using a Pre-Cut Bag <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Place food in the bag, leaving enough empty space at the open end for your sealer to grip and seal it.</li><li>Lay the open end flat in the vacuum sealer as directed by your appliance manual.</li><li>Start the vacuum-and-seal cycle. Check that the finished seal is complete and wrinkle-free before storing.</li></ul> Making a Bag from a Roll <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Cut a piece of roll material long enough for the food plus extra room at both ends.</li><li>Heat-seal one cut end to create the bottom of the bag.</li><li>Add food, place the open end in the vacuum sealer, then vacuum and seal.</li></ul> Storage &amp; Cooking <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>BPA-free multilayer material is suitable for refrigerator and freezer storage.</li><li>FoodSaver states its standard heat-seal bags and rolls can be used for microwave reheating, simmering/boiling applications, and sous vide. Follow the temperature and use limits for your specific appliance and recipe.</li><li>For liquids or very moist foods, prevent liquid from being drawn into the vacuum sealer. Pre-freezing moist foods can make sealing easier.</li></ul> | Tips for a Reliable Seal <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Keep the sealing area clean, dry, flat, and free of food particles, grease, folds, and wrinkles.</li><li>Do not overfill the bag; leave enough smooth material at the opening for a full heat seal.</li><li>If a seal looks incomplete, trim the end if needed and reseal on clean, flat material.</li><li>Use rolls to make custom-size bags and pre-cut bags for faster everyday portioning.</li></ul> Safety &amp; Care <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>These bags require a heat-seal vacuum appliance; they are not the same as FoodSaver zipper bags used with handheld sealers.</li><li>Use care with hot bags and hot food. Open heated bags carefully to avoid steam burns.</li><li>Inspect bag material before use. Do not use material that is punctured, torn, or cannot form a complete seal.</li><li>Follow your vacuum sealer manufacturer's instructions for sealing moist foods, powders, sharp-edged foods, and hot foods.</li></ul> Troubleshooting <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Won't vacuum: Make sure the open end is positioned correctly in the appliance and the bag is not wrinkled.</li><li>Loses vacuum: Check for punctures, food in the seal area, or an incomplete seal. Reseal if necessary.</li><li>Won't seal: Allow the appliance to cool if it has been used repeatedly, then try again with a clean, dry bag edge.</li></ul> |

FoodSaver Support

Customer Service: 1-877-777-8042 • Mon-Fri, 9 AM-5 PM ET
Online support: FoodSaver.com/contact

Unofficial quick-use guide prepared from available product information; not the manufacturer's original manual.